Description

The FLOW stacking chair combines elegance with a remarkably light weight yet strong durability. The sleek design ensures no metal brackets or screws are required, while the array of finishes ensures the chair is befitting of modern and traditional settings, often in tandem with other wooden furnishings. Further finish options are available upon request. The chair can be stacked to 10 high, with or without arms which are available in either chrome-plated or powder coated finish. Felt glides are included as standard, while further options include linking and an upholstered seat - please contact the office for further details. Customers are welcome to trial the chair through Alpha's free, no obligation sample service.
