Description

Corals is a modular and dynamic seating system that can cleverly respond to constantly changing needs, providing constantly changeable configurations. Each element can be independently added to or removed from the aluminium extrusion frame profile. The profile as standard includes cable channelling for neat, tidy and safe electrification in public spaces. Elements include single and double seats and back rests, 90 and 135 degree turns and tables, end table, arm rests with optional electrification, arm-top table, acoustic back panel and lighting. Corals is also available as a 2- or 4-seater meeting pod with desk. Available in a huge choice of fabric finishes, colours can be combined to provide interest or fit in with corporate branding. The legs are made of steel for excellent strength, with powder-coated finish or solid oak cladding. Contact the office via the enquiry form above for full details, pricing, and renders.
